

HEAT HURTS AND KILLS WORKERS

INDOORS and OUTDOORS

EARLY SIGNS OF HEAT STRESS

Dehydration
(Being thirsty)

Muscle cramps

Heat rash

Confusion

HEAT EXHAUSTION

Headache

Nausea

Dizziness

Weakness

Irritability

Heavy sweating

Decreased urine output

HEAT STROKE

Red, hot, dry skin

High body temperature

Confusion

Fainting

Convulsions

Heat illnesses get worse fast. Watch out and respond quickly to early signs of heat stress. Call 911 immediately if someone has symptoms of heat exhaustion or heat stroke. Employers are legally responsible to provide a safe workplace under OSHA's General Duty Clause. Work with your co-workers to report dangerous heat and demand safe conditions. If your employer refuses to provide a safe workplace or threatens with retaliation you can file a complain with OSHA online, email, or by calling 800-321-6742 (OSHA).

The WNYCOSH Worker Hotline is available 24-7 at (716) 206-3550

COSH

